2-PAGE SPREAD $2500

Santa Fe artist Maurice Burns earned his Bachelor of Fine Arts at the Rhode Island School of Design and his master's from the Royal College of Art in London. He came west to Santa Fe from London in 1975 when he received a grant to set up visiting artist and artist-in-residence programs at the Institute of American Indian Arts (IAIA). While there he exhibited with neo-Honda-Fuji, Scholier, T.C. Cannon, Earl Bliss, Billy "War Goddard" Goddard and others. His natural gift for drawing forms the basis for many of his works.

Awards and publications include: Pollock-Kooser Foundation Grant, MacDowell Colony Fellowship, Black Artist of a New Generation by Stan C. Fax, publisher Dodd Meade & Company, Who's Who in Black America and numerous magazine articles including ones in Flaunt, TIME, and the Santa Fe Arts Journal.

You can see Maurice Burns's exciting work at a new show opening November 10 at the Center for Contemporary Arts in Santa Fe.

Maurice sells his work out of his studio in Santa Fe and can be found online at mauriceburns.com or reached at 505-471-0501 or mobuman@gmail.com.
